The library trustees, staff and volunteers are subject to the Town of Williston Code of Ethics as stated in the Town Personnel Policy.

XI. EXHIBITS

It is the policy of the Dorothy Alling Memorial Library to provide all members of the community free access to materials which can improve their minds, broaden their lives, and fulfill their educational, intellectual, cultural and recreational needs. One important method of doing so is to provide space for hobby, craft, collections and art exhibits. Organizations and individuals wishing to utilize the library for an exhibit must consult with the Library Director. The Director's decision will be based on the availability of suitable spaces for exhibits and whether the exhibit aligns with the library's mission. The following requirements also apply:

1. Library exhibits will be given priority.
2. Exhibits are scheduled for one month.
3. Each exhibitor is responsible for hanging their own art work, and for providing all necessary materials for organizing an exhibit. The library has a supply of S-hooks which can be used for hanging art work from the moldings.
4. The library does not carry insurance to cover the loss of items included in an exhibit. The Library cannot assume financial liability for loss or damage. Since the exhibit may be in an unsupervised area, exhibitors should consider the possibility of providing private insurance if security is a concern. Exhibitors must sign a waiver of liability which states that "the lender understands that their materials are loaned and exhibited at their own risk and that neither the Library Director nor the staff, the Board of Trustees, nor the Town of Williston shall be held responsible for theft, vandalism, fire or water damage or any other damage to the exhibit. The lender shall not bring any action against and shall hold the library employees, the Library Director, the Board of Trustees and the Town of Williston, its agents and/or employees harmless for any damage to materials on loan to the library."
5. Publicity is the responsibility of the exhibitor except when the exhibit is co-sponsored by the library. The Library may publicize exhibits on social media, and in Library communications using photographs of exhibits.
6. Exhibitors may not schedule special openings or other events without the permission of the Library Director. All arrangements must be approved by the Library Director at least two weeks prior to the planned event. Smoking is not allowed and no alcoholic beverages may be served. Food and beverages may be consumed only in areas designated by the staff. The event must be open to the public.
7. Prices will not be posted on the items in the exhibit, except with the approval of the Library Director. No admission fee may be charged. A price list may be left at the circulation desk. Transactions for the purchase of an item shall be directly between the purchaser and the exhibitor. Exhibit material which is sold during its display may not be removed before the end of the exhibit without the permission of the Director.
8. Granting permission to use the library facilities does not constitute an endorsement by the library staff, trustees or the Town of Williston of the content of the exhibit, the materials exhibited or of the exhibitors. The library reserves the right to move items within the exhibit or remove them from the exhibit entirely.
9. Failure to abide by these requirements could result in denial of further requests to use the library exhibit spaces.

Relevance to the needs and interests of the community is also considered.
 - d. The Library will rely on interlibrary-loan for materials beyond the scope of its collection, and in turn will make its materials available to other libraries.
 - e. The Library will attempt to provide materials appropriate for all ages and reading levels.
 - f. Selection of eBooks, audiobooks, streamed video, periodical and other electronic database collections will be based on the philosophy outlined in a. above and, will also consider ease of use, flexibility of search features, compatibility with other electronic products, authentication method, licensing conditions, reliability of vendor and vendor customer service record.
 - g. The Library shall enter into consortium agreements for electronic database collections when it is to the benefit of the Library and provides enhanced and expanded services for our members. It is understood that the Library does not have direct control of the acquisition of the materials available through these agreements.

2. The Library will serve everyone without discrimination in accordance with the Vermont Public Accommodations Law (21 VSA, Sec. 271) and will make reasonable accommodations for people with disabilities unless such accommodation would cause an undue hardship.
3. The Library complies fully with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and does not discriminate against qualified individuals with a disability in any aspect of the employment relationship: recruitment, application process, salary, leave, promotions, benefit provisions, hiring, termination or training etc. The Library will make reasonable accommodations to the known physical or mental limitations of an otherwise qualified applicant or employee with a disability.

XVI. PRIVACY POLICY STATEMENT

A. Background, Philosophy, Rationale

The Dorothy Alling Memorial Library fully subscribes to the professional standard stated in the Code of Ethics of the American Library Association. (See appendix 1.) The Dorothy Alling Memorial Library takes most seriously the responsibility to ensure intellectual freedom, and recognizes the critical need to protect the privacy and confidentiality of its users. This means that the Dorothy Alling Memorial Library will not reveal, except upon receipt of a valid and enforceable court order, subpoena or other binding legal demand (hereafter "binding legal demand") information about users – what they read from our collections, what their areas of research might be, or what resources or services they consult, use or access (hereafter "user information"). We protect each library user's right to privacy and confidentiality with respect to information sought or received and resources consulted, borrowed, acquired or transmitted.

Support for the protection of library records is found in the Vermont Public Records Act [1 V.S.A. § 317 (19)], which provides that "records relating to the identity of library patrons or the identity of library patrons in regard to library patron registration records and patron transaction records in accordance with 22 V.S.A. chapter 4" are "exempt from public inspection and copying."

22 V.S.A. § 172 A library's patron registration records and patron transaction records shall remain confidential. Unless authorized by other provisions of law, the library's officers, employees, and volunteers shall not disclose the records except:

- (1) with the written permission of the library patron to whom the records pertain;
- (2) to officers, employees, volunteers, and agents of the library to the extent necessary for library administration purposes;
- (3) in response to an authorized judicial order or warrant directing disclosure;
- (4) to custodial parents or guardians of patrons under age 16; or
- (5) to the custodial parents or guardians of a student, in accordance with the federal Family Education Rights and Privacy Act, by the library at the school the student attends.

22 V.S.A. § 173 Right of patron action Any person whose confidential patron registration records or patron transaction records have been disclosed, except as provided in this chapter, is authorized to bring a civil action against the library that disclosed the records.

Confidential library records have long been accessible to law enforcement officials through orderly legal channels. However, passage by Congress of the Uniting and Strengthening America by Providing Appropriate Tools Required to Intercept and Obstruct Terrorism Act of 2001 (USA PATRIOT Act, Public Law 107-56) gave law enforcement officials more access to library user records, and increased ability to install devices on computer workstations to monitor activity. Furthermore, it prohibited patron notification when certain types of surveillance are underway. This legislation caused libraries, including the Dorothy Alling Memorial Library, to review their written policies and practices regarding privacy of patron records, to rethink and codify record-keeping practices, and to ensure that staff has coherent procedures to follow should official requests for information identifying individuals come to the library.

Dorothy Alling Memorial Library's "Procedures for Handling Requests for Library Records or Information About Library Users" may be viewed in the appendix.

B. Policy on Records Creation and Retention

The library does not need to collect or retain user information beyond what is needed for essential library operations or to protect the library collections (e.g., information necessary for contacting someone about materials they currently have signed out or for which a bill might be outstanding). Patrons have the right to request that their circulation histories be cleared automatically after the next time the item is checked out. Only staff has access to personally identifiable information stored in the library's computer systems.

The library does not retain personally identifiable online records of Internet transactions (Website, social media or e-mail messages). Computer workstations in the library are designed to protect user privacy – regularly erasing search histories and user passwords on a cyclical basis as well as with each session logout.

Library administrators regularly review record-keeping practices, and staff is trained to understand library practices regarding privacy and confidentiality.

C. Policy on Disclosing Information About Library Users

Without binding legal demand, and/or without extraordinary and emergent health or safety threats that merit disclosure in the judgment of the Town Manager and/or their designee, Dorothy Alling Memorial Library and its staff will not provide user information requested by a third party, except as noted below. “User Information” includes: name, mailing address, telephone, e-mail address and Dorothy Alling Memorial Library barcode, and records of resources and services used by an individual including, but not limited to: library materials borrowed or consulted, reference requests or other requests for information, database search records, interlibrary loan records, computer workstations used, and the content of computer activity.

Dorothy Alling Memorial Library will comply with requests for information on children under 16 years of age in accordance with Vermont S. 220 (No. 129) “An Act Relating to the Confidentiality of Library Patron Records” if the person requesting the information shows proof of guardianship of the youth in question.

XVII. DONATION COLLECTION POLICY

The Library may serve as a collection point for not-for-profit community organizations that are soliciting non-monetary donations. The Library will not collect money for outside organizations. The Library reserves the right to determine whether an organization’s purpose and the type of donation collection are suitable for collection at the Library. The Library Director or a designated staff member will approve the application. Organizations and individuals that want to place donation collection points at the Library must apply to the Library Director with the following information.

1. Name of organization to benefit from the donations
2. Purpose of the organization
3. Local contact person (name, address, phone & email)
4. Purpose of collection
5. Type(s) of item(s) being collected & size of receptacle
6. Dates of collection

A. The organization must agree that

1. The Library is not responsible for the security of the donations other than general surveillance. Organization personnel are responsible for checking the box and emptying it.
2. The Library will determine the location of the collection point and the length of time collections will be made at the Library.
3. The organization may state that the Library is a collection point but may not imply that the Library is sponsoring or endorsing the project.
4. Collection receptacles and the contents not picked up within five working days after the project ends will become the property of the Library to be disposed of as the Library chooses.

XVIII. PUBLIC INFORMATION DISPLAY POLICY

The library bulletin boards and display spaces are available for the display of approved posters and notices. All requests for posting materials must be approved by library staff. Materials will not be excluded because of the origin, background or views of those contributing to their creation. Materials may not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.

1. Material displayed is restricted to announcements of:
 - a. Library-related programs and services
 - b. Events for organizations engaged in educational, cultural, intellectual or charitable activities
 - c. Items in general support of community service organizations
 - d. Free events, or fee events for non-profit organizations
 - e. Petitions for non-political groups
 - f. Ballot petitions for Williston Town-wide office.
2. Any posting without approval will be removed immediately.
3. Postings for commercial job advertising, or for lost pets are not permitted.
4. Those who object to the content of postings may request a reconsideration form. The use of this form will follow the same procedures as “Reconsideration of Materials” found in section XIV of these policies.

XIX. POLICY REVIEW

1. These policies will be reviewed by the Board of Trustees and the Library Director every two years.

Code of Ethics of the American Library Association

As members of the American Library Association, we recognize the importance of codifying and making known to the profession and to the general public the ethical principles that guide the work of librarians, other professionals providing information services, library trustees and library staffs.

Ethical dilemmas occur when values are in conflict. The American Library Association Code of Ethics states the values to which we are committed, and embodies the ethical responsibilities of the profession in this changing information environment.

We significantly influence or control the selection, organization, preservation, and dissemination of information. In a political system grounded in an informed citizenry, we are members of a profession explicitly committed to intellectual freedom and the freedom of access to information. We have a special obligation to ensure the free flow of information and ideas to present and future generations.

The principles of this Code are expressed in broad statements to guide ethical decision making. These statements provide a framework; they cannot and do not dictate conduct to cover particular situations.

1. We provide the highest level of service to all library users through appropriate and usefully organized resources; equitable service policies; equitable access; and accurate, unbiased, and courteous responses to all requests.
2. We uphold the principles of intellectual freedom and resist all efforts to censor library resources.
3. We protect each library user's right to privacy and confidentiality with respect to information sought or received and resources consulted, borrowed, acquired or transmitted.
4. We respect intellectual property rights and advocate balance between the interests of information users and rights holders.
5. We treat co-workers and other colleagues with respect, fairness, and good faith, and advocate conditions of employment that safeguard the rights and welfare of all employees of our institutions.
6. We do not advance private interests at the expense of library users, colleagues, or our employing institutions.
7. We distinguish between our personal convictions and professional duties and do not allow our personal beliefs to interfere with fair representation of the aims of our institutions or the provision of access to their information resources.
8. We strive for excellence in the profession by maintaining and enhancing our own knowledge and skills, by encouraging the professional development of co-workers, and by fostering the aspirations of potential members of the profession.
9. We affirm the inherent dignity and rights of every person. We work to recognize and dismantle systemic and individual biases; to confront inequity and oppression; to enhance diversity and inclusion; and to advance racial and social justice in our libraries, communities, profession, and associations through awareness, advocacy, education, collaboration, services, and allocation of resources and spaces.

Adopted at the 1939 Midwinter Meeting by the ALA Council; amended June 30, 1981; June 28, 1995; January 22, 2008; and June 29, 2021.

Appendix 2

PROCEDURES FOR HANDLING REQUESTS FOR LIBRARY RECORDS OR INFORMATION ABOUT LIBRARY USERS

The Dorothy Alling Memorial Library has established the following protocols to deal with requests for library user information:

1. Staff procedures for handling requests from individuals who are not law enforcement officers:

When any individual (including Dorothy Alling Memorial Library volunteers or town staff), presents themselves to any staff member and requests information, the staff member should inform the individual that according to Dorothy Alling Memorial Library policy, this information cannot be provided without a binding legal demand. If they have further questions, they should be directed to the Director's office.

2. Staff procedures for handling requests from law enforcement officers or other parties in possession of purportedly binding legal demands:

When an individual presents themselves to any staff member* as a law enforcement officer or as someone bearing a binding legal demand, and requests user information about library patrons, the staff member should:

- a. Ask to see identification
- b. Ask the officer if they have a binding legal demand.
- c. Advise the Director if the individual has presented identification and a purportedly binding legal demand to obtain user information.
- d. Direct the individual requesting information to speak with the Director who will follow the procedure below.
- e. AFTER DIRECTING THE LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER TO THE DIRECTOR, THE STAFF MEMBER MUST NOT INFORM ANYONE ABOUT THE REQUEST, UNLESS/UNTIL AUTHORIZED TO DO SO BY THE DIRECTOR.
- f. If the Director is not in the office and cannot be reached, the staff member should contact one of the following persons in order listed and direct the individual requesting the information to speak with:
Assistant Library Director
Town Manager
Town Lawyer or a lawyer of Stitzel, Page & Fletcher, 660-2555
- g. During evenings and weekends, the Director should be contacted at home. If the Director cannot be reached, the staff member should contact one of the following individuals and direct the individual requesting information to speak with them (current names and phone numbers are listed in the pocket response plan): Assistant Director, Town

Manager, Town Lawyer.

- h. If the staff member cannot reach the Director or any other individual, they should contact the American Library Association's Office of Intellectual Freedom (ALA OIF) at 312-280-4223. Do not identify yourself. Simply say, "We need legal advice." An ALA lawyer will assist you. After speaking with the lawyer, do not inform anyone else of the request unless authorized to do so by the ALA lawyer.

*Supervisors of student assistants and volunteers who work at public service desks are responsible for informing them of this Dorothy Alling Memorial Library policy. A record will be retained with each trainee's name, signature and date of training on this procedure. Student workers and volunteers should be advised to immediately turn over any transaction of this type to a staff member.

3. Director procedure for handling requests from law enforcement officers

- a. If the individual does not present photo identification and/or a binding legal demand, the Director should:
 - i. Review and make a copy of whatever identification information the individual does present;
 - ii. Advise the individual that the library cannot comply without appropriate identification and documented legal authorization;
 - iii. Direct the individual to the Town Manager and/or the Town Attorney.
 - iii. If the Town Manager and/or the Town Attorney can't be reached, contact the American Library Association's Office of Intellectual Freedom (ALA OIF) at 312-280-4223. Do not identify yourself. Simply say, "We need legal advice." An ALA lawyer will assist you. After speaking with the lawyer, do not inform anyone else of the request unless authorized to do so by the ALA lawyer.
- b. If the individual does present appropriate photo identification and a binding legal demand, the Director should contact town counsel who will advise the Director about their legal responsibilities to respond to the demand, and about procedures for responding to the person seeking the user information. Counsel will also advise about any applicable restrictions concerning communications with the user or others about the legal demand and the Library's response to it.

PROCEDURES FOR STAFF HANDLING OF LIBRARY PATRON MISBEHAVIOR

All patrons are expected to observe the rights and safety of other patrons and staff. Library staff is responsible for identifying misconduct/misbehavior and policy enforcement. Misconduct will not be allowed in the library. Patrons who observe misconduct should avoid confrontation and immediately notify library staff.

1. When misbehavior occurs, the staff will at a minimum give a warning to the patron(s) and notify them that they will be asked to leave the library if the misbehavior continues. Serious misconduct or repeated misconduct may result in the immediate loss of the privilege to use the Library.
2. When behavior is observed which could affect the health, safety or welfare of users of the Library, the staff member will call police and notify other staff present in the library.
3. When misconduct behavior is unsafe, illegal, or interferes with the rights of other patrons or staff, the staff person can/should call police and notify other staff present in the library.
4. Patrons who engage in misconduct may receive notice and be barred from the library for a designated amount of time.

RECONSIDERATION OF MATERIALS

A person wishing to have any materials reconsidered or withdrawn from the library's collection shall complete a Request for Reconsideration (appended) from the librarian. The challenged materials will remain on the shelves and in circulation during the reconsideration process. The Board of Trustees will be informed of the challenge as soon as possible. After receiving a formal written complaint, the Library Director will review the challenged material and make a recommendation to the Board of Trustees within ten working days. The Library Director and/or the Board of Trustees may request the appointment of an ad hoc committee to review the challenged materials within 15 working days. The appointment of the committee is the responsibility of the Board of Trustees.

The review committee will take the following steps after receiving the challenged materials: reads, views or listens to the material in its entirety; checks general acceptance of the material by reading reviews and /or consulting recommended lists; determines the value of the material to the library according to the materials selection policy and judging it for its strength as a whole and not in part. A written recommendation is to be submitted by the review committee to the Board of Trustees within ten days. The Board of Trustees will act upon the written recommendation at its next regularly scheduled meeting and announce its findings.

Materials which meet the purposes of the Library or which meet existing needs or interests will not be removed from the library because of pressure by individuals or groups. It is the responsibility of parents or legal guardians to determine what their children -- and only their children -- may read, use or borrow. The selection of materials and development of services by the Library will not be restricted by the possibility that young people may obtain materials which their parents/legal guardians consider inappropriate. There are no restrictions on access except in cases in which materials of historical or other value need to be controlled to preserve them.
